PREFACE

SCIENCE FICTION BOOK REVIEW INDEX, volume 4, 1973, is quite late in publication, due to work on an expanded and cumulated version of the index. The editor offers his apologies for whatever inconvenience this may have caused. In the interest of time, this year only author and title of the books reviewed have been provided. Complete citation to the reviews are given, as they have been in the past. SFBRI volume 4, 1973 provides access to 1508 reviews of 791 books.

INTRODUCTION

SCIENCE FICTION BOOK REVIEW INDEX is an annual publication designed to identify and provide bibliographic access to science fiction and fantasy book reviews, and to other books of potential interest to students and readers of that genre of literature.

To achieve the goal set forth above, most of the commercial science fiction and fantasy magazines are indexed completely. The few exceptions are the exclusively reprint magazines which do not carry book reviews. In addition, certain amateur publications (fanzines) are comprehensively indexed for book reviews. Choice of fanzines for inclusion is based on such factors as quality of reviewing and availability. Finally, a number of general magazines and library-oriented magazines are indexed selectively. In this context, "selectively" indicates that all science fiction and related reviews from each issue of the magazine are cited. Since not all general and library-oriented periodicals could be covered, titles were chosen primarily for high density of reviews per issue, or because the magazine regularly reviewed science fiction and fantasy books. In all categories, the editor will welcome suggestions for additional titles to be covered. A directory of the magazine titles regularly indexed is provided in each volume.

SFBRI covers all levels of books, from children's fantasy through technical books, which were reviewed in the source journals. The primary source of reviews of children's fantasy is the "lilliputia" column in LUNA MONTHLY. The column is indexed completely, for two reasons. First, this aspect of the genre has long been neglected, although it might well have a significant influence on later reading habits. Consequently, citations to one of the major reviewing sources may have significant research value in the future. Second, children's librarians have few review sources which cover this type literature, and access to reviews should be of value in selection of materials for libraries.

History and criticism, bibliography, and reference works on science fiction are included in SFBRI. Reviews to this type of material are cited whenever found, even though the review may have been published long before the year of coverage of the Index. Likewise, reviews appearing in journals other than those listed in the directory are included when located. The inclusion of such occasional citations does not imply that SFBRI gives adequate access to those titles. Technical books and popularized science books are sometimes cited, if, in the opinion of the editor, they are of potential interest to Index users. The prime examples of this type of work are Isaac Asimov's many non-fiction books, ranging from spaceflight to Shakespeare.

SFBRI is divided into two sections. Section I is an alphabetical listing by author. Multiple titles by a single author are alphabetized following his name. Authors' names are cited as they were included in the book; no pseudonym cross references are provided. In the case of obvious errors, a correction has been made, with the correction verified through some reliable source, such as PAPERBOUND BOOKS IN PRINT, Joanne Burger's FORTHCOMING BOOKS, or LUNA MONTHLY'S excellent bibliographical column.

Citations in the Author Section consist of the following items, which appear in the citation in the order listed: author, title and subtitle; publisher; source journal; volume number of issue whole number; pagination of review; date of review; reviewer (if identified). Citations to the source journals are abbreviated, following standard abbreviations whenever possible. Full bibliographic data to the books reviewed has not been provided since inclusion of the publisher is generally sufficient to identify the book.

Section II is a title index to the books reviewed. The title index is truncated in several ways. The title only is given, with subtitles deleted unless essential to identify the work. The user is referenced to the author's name. In the case of co-authors or co-editors, only the person under whose name the book is filed is given in the title index.

Entries in the author section are filed under the first author's name. Co-authors are completely disregarded in filing. Abbreviations such as "Dr.", are filed as if they were spelled out in full, for example, "Doctor". Likewise, numbers such as "30" are filed as spelled out, "thirty". An exception must be noted here. Serial publications, such as ORBIT 1, ORBIT 2, etc., are filed numerically, rather than by number spelled out. In a compilation such as this, errors inevitably creep in. The editor would be grateful for any additions or corrections to this index, to improve the accuracy of future cumulations.

SFBRI is not an accurate bibliographic record, although every effort is made to correct errors. Almost every author and title entry is derived from secondary sources, and errors may be carried over to this index. Also, since some of the source journals carry prepublication reviews, there is always the chance of a blind entry, resulting either from nonpublication of the book, or a last-minute title change on the part of the publisher. For positive identification of works cited, the user is referred to such standard references as CUMULATIVE BOOK INDEX or the NATIONAL UNION CATALOG.

It should also be noted that SFBRI is not cumulated, and that each volume must be consulted for complete record of reviews of a given title.

Special thanks to Mr. Don Halvorson of Bryan, Texas, without whose technical assistance SFBRI might not have been possible.
